A MESSAGE FROM THE CURSILLO SECRETARIAT PRESIDENT

The only thing that counts is faith expressing itself through love Galatians 5:6b

By now we have come out of a Holy Lent and have celebrated a Joyous Easter. I hope you feel renewed and full of life.

Early March provided an opportunity to host the Episcopal Cursillo Ministry Committee, which included members from throughout the country. They held their meetings at St Albans' in El Cajon. On Saturday, March 3, there was a wonderful potluck and Ultreya. The speakers were part of the visiting committee, the food was wonderful, and a good time was had by all. Thank you to all the volunteers who worked tirelessly Thursday through Saturday. A big thank you also, to the host families who opened their homes for our guests.

We are eagerly anticipating the inaugural Cursillo weekend at Pine Valley Bible Conference Center. The team for #142 is ready to go. The music is coordinated, the table leaders are ready to listen and guide, the prayer warriors are ready to pray and serve, and the clergy team will be ready after recovering from a busy Holy Week. As of now, we have at least 15 candidates. A big thank you to all the sponsors for encouraging participation this Spring. Everyone's prayers are needed for all participants involved in the weekend.

New Time for Open Closura... 3:00. If you would like to bring flowers for Mananitas on Sunday, for the new Cursistas, please come at 2:15 to greet them and distribute flowers (no gifts) as they walk from Closed Closura to Open Closura.

The Grand Ultreya is Coming! Save the date! Saturday May 19th, St John's in Chula Vista. We will be announcing the Fall Rector, enjoying good food and singing great music.

Blessings, Kit

MORE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Grouping

With at least 15 new Cursistas, comes the need for grouping opportunities. What is Grouping? And what is it not?

Grouping is not a clique from one church gathering to discuss church politics or people.

Grouping is a group of Cursistas, possibly from multiple churches, who have found a convenient time and location to join together to discuss Study, Piety and Action. Many groups read a book during the week to discuss.

Grouping is not a time to judge whether you have done 'enough' Piety, Study or Action.

Grouping involves brothers and sisters in Christ encouraging one another to live their baptismal covenant, and support each other in their efforts.

Grouping has no socio-economic requirements, and does not have to be held at a particular location. Grouping can be held immediately before or after church on Sunday morning. It can be held in a coffee shop, over a meal at Denney's, (or wherever), or at a home. The possibilities are numerous.

Grouping is not an exclusive group. As people leave, move or whatever, newcomers should be welcomed. Deep relationships are often formed within a group, but new blood, insights, and friendships can renew a long time group. We should welcome newcomers as Jesus taught us to welcome the stranger.

If you are grouping, please look to see if your group has room for one or two more Cursistas. If you are not grouping, let your parish representative know you want join a group. Or, contact Craig Noble at craignoble@cox.net. Craig is the grouping coordinator for the secretariat.

A MESSAGE FROM THE DIOCESAN CURSILLO SPIRITUAL ADVISOR

Paul's Conversion and Our Conversion

The Apostle Paul was named Saul prior to his conversion to Christianity. He was a Pharisee who was zealous to uphold Old Testament law. He believed that that laws of the Old Testament were the means of salvation and that Christianity intended to replace the law by making Jesus the means of salvation. He saw Jesus and his followers as a threat to Judaism and its laws. Paul wanted Christianity annihilated, even to the point of killing Christians. His conversion to Christianity is the greatest conversion story in history.

Richard Peace of Fuller Theological Seminary has some interesting things to say about Paul's conversion on the road to Damascus. First of all, he points out that Paul's conversion was seen by Luke as so important that there are three accounts of Paul's conversion in the Book of Acts: in Chapters 9, 22, and 26. In all of these accounts there are three essential parts of Paul's conversion. The three essential parts of Paul's conversion comprise the model for all Christian conversions. Richard Peace is very much aware that there are many aspects of Paul's conversion that are unique to Paul's experience and not essential for everyone else. In fact, everyone who has a conversion experience has an experience that is unique to them in many ways. Nonetheless, Peace has identified three common elements in the varied conversion experiences down through history that can be found in Paul's conversion. The essentials of Christian conversion are: Insight, Turning, and Transformation.

1. Insight: When Paul met the risen Jesus on the road to Damascus and Jesus asked him,

“Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me?”

And Saul asked, “Who are you Lord?”

The reply came, “I am Jesus, whom you are persecuting.”

In this moment of supernatural divine revelation, Paul cannot argue with Jesus, even with all of his Pharisaical training and reasoning. Human reason must surrender to the supernatural divine presence and revelation. Paul instantly becomes overwhelmed with the revealed knowledge that he is persecuting God's people, and not only that, but that he is a murderer violating God's law. He inwardly has a new insight into his life, that he is not righteous before God, but is the chief of all sinners. Jesus' supernatural revelation gives him this new insight that reinterprets his entire life. His conversion begins with God's revelation giving him insight into his life. Conversion begins with a revealed insight that reinterprets one's life.

2) Turning: Once Paul receives the supernatural insight he is willing to turn from his sinful life towards Jesus. He puts his life under Jesus' authority even in his question to Jesus on the road to Damascus. He asks, “Who are you, Lord?” The fact that he uses the word “Lord” is already an indicator of his willingness to turn and put his life under the authority of the one who is speaking to him. Paul's life after the revelation was never the same. There was a turning that took place on the road to Damascus that was the beginning of a new life. All true conversion involves a turning toward Jesus with a willingness to serve Him.

3) Transformation: Paul's life was so transformed that he was changed from being a religious fanatic who was trying to uphold God's law with his own understanding and power to a person filled with the grace of Jesus Christ—he lived by Christ's grace rather than his own efforts. He would write "By Grace you are Saved." He became such a different person that he was called Paul rather than Saul. All true conversion shows a life of grace that is different than any human striving or fanatical religion. All true conversion results in a life transformed by Grace.

Paul met the risen Christ on the road to Damascus. We, today, may not meet the risen Christ in the same way that Paul did, with a flash of light and a voice calling down from Heaven. Most events of revelation and conversion are not dramatic. But nonetheless, the risen Christ is alive and present today and He comes to us in moments of supernatural revelation. In these moments, we are overwhelmed with new insight that comes only from God, an insight that re-interprets our life allowing us to see the change that God wants to make in us. We can turn to Christ when we have this new insight. Or we can reject the insight and turn away from Christ. It's our choice to turn towards him. But when we do turn towards Jesus, we are transformed. The Holy Spirit comes and pours the grace of Christ into our souls, giving us a new life.

These three parts of conversion happen in big, sudden conversion experiences, or they happen in small, gradual events of conversion. The three parts of conversion, whether big or small, happen in sudden and mysterious ways for all who are willing to accept them. Meeting the risen Christ is not just about having an enjoyable experience. It's about letting Him do His work of conversion in you. Pray that you are open to meeting the risen Christ and He will come to you. The Risen Christ comes giving us insight, turning, and transformation—conversion!

Alleluia. Christ is Risen,

Father George

PALANCA

Dear friends:

I hope the Joy of Easter is still filling your hearts with love and joy for our Lord's resurrection.

I still gets goose bumps when I remember our loud and joyful proclamation during the Easter service The Lord is risen Alleluia !!

This remind me of the promise I made –Here I am Lord... send me, during the closure of Cursillo #138, my first one. The great, peaceful and fearless feeling comes to me by His promise "And surely I am with you always, even to the very end of the age." Mathew 28:20. Which is the theme chosen wisely by our Cursillo-Rector Debbie Kistler.

I want to remind to all of you to pray for our candidates, the teams, and every single person working in our Cursillo #142 at Pine Valley.

We also needs lots of prayer for all the Cursillos held across our Country and the world.

Here are the dates so you will know who you are praying for:

5/31-6/3, Cursillo Weekend #94, Southeast Florida, pam.laws.clark@gmail.com

I also would like to thank the Secretariat for their constant support on my new endeavor as the assistant to the Palanca committee, especially Larry Salvadori and my predecessor Rachel Ambasing; their help, and knowledge has made a smooth transition for me.

De Colores,

Isabel Lynne
